

Egyptians Paying Last Respects To Nasser

Dream Of Uniting Arab World Ends

CAIRO (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser, the most important Arab statesman to emerge in modern times, died with his dream of uniting the Arab world behind him unfulfilled.

He wrote of his dream and led summit conferences to achieve it, yet his actions repeatedly drove quarreling Arab factions farther apart.

His struggle to bring his brand of revolutionary socialism to Egypt and its neighbors, coupled with his determination to destroy Israel, brought the world to the verge of war.

Aids In Agreement

The day before he died, he had shepherded an agreement between Jordan's King Hussein and Arab guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat to end Jordan's bloody civil war—a conflict that threatened international intervention.

But even then, the agreement encouraged the guerrillas to increase their war against Israel despite a cease-fire with Israel that Nasser and Hussein had signed in August.

Ky Given OK To Visit U.S. - After Elections

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials say South Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky is being given an invitation by the Nixon administration for a red-carpet visit to the United States later this year — probably after the Nov. 3 elections.

Although no announcement of the invitation has been made, sources said the new invitation materialized after Ky disclosed Saturday he had changed his mind and would not address the Rev. Carl McIntire's "march for victory" here this weekend.

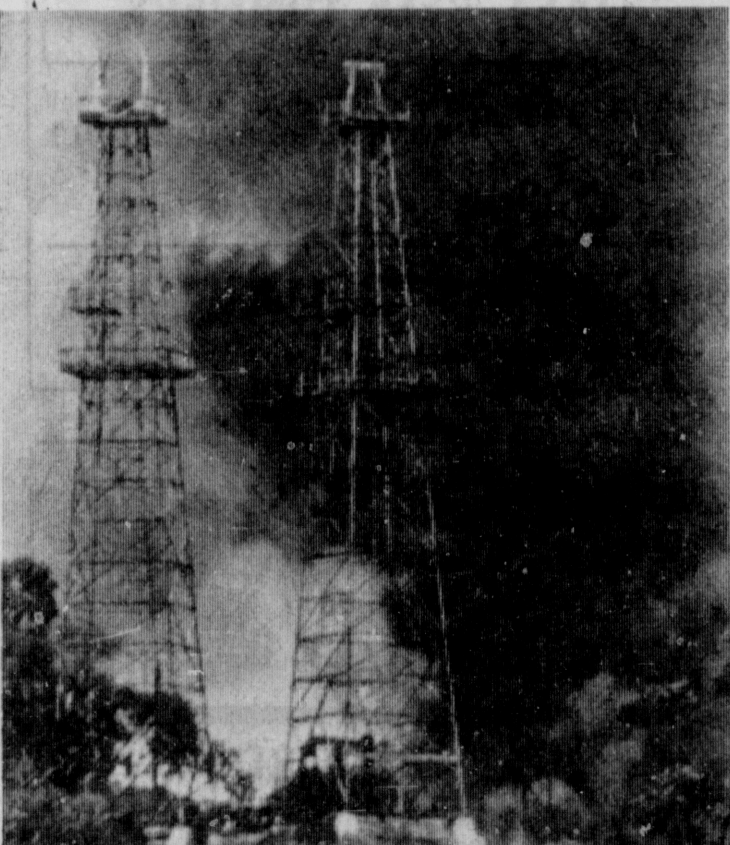

McIntire, the fundamentalist New Jersey radio preacher, angrily denounced what he called a "monstrous conspiracy reaching up to the very top levels of the government" to keep Ky from the rally.

Ky, however, said with a smile it was "not quite true" the Nixon administration tried hard to discourage him from coming here.

Administration officials made little effort to disguise their relief that Ky was not coming. Security agents already had been assigned to what was shaping up as a confrontation between Vietnam war supporters and anti-war demonstrators at rival rallies.

The White House and State Department declined comment on Ky's private visit, but there were many hints Ky would find developments at the peace negotiations in Paris sufficiently important to keep him there, rather than to come to the United States at this time.

Upon learning Ky had called off his plans to fly here this week, leaders of the counter-demonstration canceled their rally.

Pro-Russian Arab Leader Seen Possible

PARIS (AP) — Experts on the Middle East predict a struggle in Egypt to succeed President Gamal Abdel Nasser, and some diplomats forecast a Soviet move to install a pro-Russian as his successor.

The uncertainty of the situation was summed up today by one official who said: "Nobody is going to know what's happening until somebody reads the will."

Arab, Israeli and Western diplomats in Paris agreed, however, that Vice President Anwar Sadat, one of the original members of Nasser's 1952 junta and now provisional president of Egypt, would not emerge as Nasser's successor.

An Israeli Embassy official predicted that members of the right-wing Muslim Brotherhood, holdovers from what the diplomat called the old military class, would move to establish a claim on Egyptian leadership. He did not rule out violence on the brotherhood's part.

An Egyptian, however, discounted the strength of the brotherhood in Egypt and mentioned the possibility of a bid for power by Ali Sabry, a Moscow protégé. Sabry heads the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only party, and directs the country's civil defense militia.

The Egyptian's reaction was seconded by senior Western diplomats in the French capital. They said the Russians would be forced to move to protect their military and political investment in Egypt.

This feeling was strengthened by the news that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would attend Nasser's funeral.

On the whole, Westerners agreed that Nasser's death was a blow to Russian objectives in the region: Nasser was by far the principal Arab figure and had tied himself to Soviet policy.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser

Sadat Leader For Next Sixty Days

BEIRUT (AP) — One of Gamal Abdel Nasser's most loyal followers will be Egypt's leader for the next 60 days.

Vice President Anwar Sadat, one of the "Free Officers" who joined Nasser in 1952 to overthrow King Farouk, took over Monday as interim head of state under the provisions of Egypt's 1964 constitution.

No one knows who will eventually emerge as Nasser's successor.

Within 60 days, the 360-member National Assembly is required to nominate a new president by a two-thirds majority. According to the constitution, the new president's term would be five years. Nasser was elected president for life following his brief resignation after Egypt's defeat by Israel in the 1967 war.

Diplomats in Paris said today that Sadat is not likely to emerge as Nasser's final successor.

Of all the officers who helped Nasser launch his revolution, only two survive in power—Sadat, 52, and Hussein Shafie, 51, who has little popular support. Both are members of the Supreme Executive Committee of the Arab Socialist Union, the only authorized political organization in Egypt.

Nasser's Death Likely To Slow Peace Initiative

ABOARD THE U.S.S. SARATOGA (AP) — President Nixon stressed "power for peace" in a speech to men of the U.S. 6th Fleet today, but silenced the guns out of respect to the late Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

In a broadcast to the fleet from this aircraft carrier in the Mediterranean and referring to the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force, Nixon said:

"I salute you as the peace forces of the United States of America."

He also told the men they were the "peace forces of the world."

The President said the "power and mobility of the 6th Fleet" in this period of danger and tension in the Middle East have been "indispensable in keeping peace."

Nixon conferred earlier with his top advisers about the death of Nasser and its effect on the Middle East, United States and the rest of the world.

After spending the night on the aircraft carrier Saratoga, which is cruising in the Mediterranean with the U.S. 6th Fleet, the President went into a private meeting with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, and security affairs adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Truce Team Monitoring Cease-Fire

By The Associated Press

An Arab truce team today monitored the cease-fire in Jordan between government troops and Palestinian guerrillas that was worked out by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The peace force of 100 officers from Egypt, Sudan, Saudi Arabia, Tunisia and Kuwait arrived Monday in Amman, Jordan's capital, and immediately set up truce observation posts. Shooting stopped there at dawn and inhabitants poured into the streets in desperate searches for food and water. There were no new reports of fighting as the Arab world mourned Nasser's death Monday in Cairo.

King Hussein of Jordan called Nasser "my brother" in a cable and said the Egyptian president was "admired by the whole world all his life."

"Nasser's last efforts were to heal Jordan's wounds during its last ordeal..." the cable said, "but the wounds incurred by his loss will never heal."

The cease-fire agreement, signed Sunday in Cairo by Hussein and Yasser Arafat of the Palestinian guerrilla command brought a halt to Jordan's 11-day civil war. However, some guerrilla broadcasts from the agreement Monday on the ground that it would weaken the Palestinian movement.

Condolences Pour In From World Leaders

CAIRO (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of grief-stricken Egyptians kept a vigil today outside Kubbah Palace, where their revered leader, Gamal Abdel Nasser, lay in state.

The Egyptian president 52, died of a heart attack Monday night.

Thoughts in world capitals turned to the question of his successor and the future course of events in the Middle East, particularly the U.S. peace plan.

Possible Successors

Gathered at Nasser's bedside at the time of his death were three men mentioned as possible successors, Vice President Anwar Sadat, who became acting president, Air Marshal Aly Sabri, and Gen. Mohammed Fawzi, commander in chief of Egypt's armed forces.

Nasser accepted the U.S. plan for a cease-fire in the conflict with Israel and his last official act was to obtain a truce in the bloody Jordanian civil war.

President Nixon was reported to believe Nasser's death will shelve the U.S. Middle East peace initiative, at least for several months. The thinking is that the new Egyptian leader must take a harder line toward Israel.

Finch Delegate

Nixon was in the Mediterranean today aboard the U.S. 6th Fleet cruiser Springfield and was going ahead with his plans to visit Yugoslavia on Wednesday. President Tito of Yugoslavia designated a top adviser, Edvard Kardelj, to represent him at Nasser's funeral.

Nixon is sending Robert H. Finch, one of his principal advisers, to be chief U.S. delegate at the funeral.

State Funeral Set

A state funeral is scheduled Thursday in the Egyptian capital. Cairo Radio said every railroad station in the country was filled with peasants demanding passage to the capital. Mourners traveled the roadways in buses, in cars, on donkeys and on foot.

In the capital itself, crowds roamed the streets Monday night. People jammed buses and taxis for suburban Koubbeh, where the body of Nasser lay in state in the presidential palace. Others walked the dozen miles.

Thousands Mourning Hundreds of thousands of grief-stricken Egyptians were at the palace gates this morning, squatting and chanting slogans. Many still cried 12 hours after Cairo Radio broadcast news of their president's death. Many women were swathed head to foot in black.

Government offices, schools and shops were closed as the nation entered 40 days of mourning. White-uniformed police with solemn expressions patrolled downtown streets, and automobile traffic was sparse and moved slowly.

Radio programs were replaced by continual funeral chants and Koran recitations interspersed with terse broadcasts of world reaction and condolence messages.

The government radio read condolences from world leaders, political enemies and friends alike, most of them addressed to Anwar Sadat, who as vice president became provisional president under the constitution. His term will be for 60 days, during which Nasser's Arab Socialist Union will choose a successor.

A broadcast said one of the new government's first official acts was to declare a state of "utmost emergency" along the Suez Canal cease-fire line with Israel to guard against any possible attack.

Burial Near Home Cairo radio said the burial will be at a mosque near Nasser's home at Machinet el Bakry, about five miles from Koubbeh.

Arab heads of state and other foreign dignitaries are expected to be pallbearers.

The Cairo broadcast said those with Nasser when he died included his wife Tahia; Lt. Gen. Mohammed Fawzi, commander in chief of the armed forces; former Premier Aly Sabry; Hussein Shafie, a former vice president, and Sadat.

The officials are considered to be among those most likely to be named successor to Nasser, the son of a postal clerk.

Impact Of Nasser's Death Seen As Trouble For U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

It will be a long time before the full impact of Gamal Abdel Nasser's death can be calculated, but it seems likely that it will release a vast torrent of emotion among a highly emotional and volatile people, and there is a good chance that this outburst will turn itself against the United States and the West.

Plenty Of Reasons

The reasons are manifold. First, the Arabs will have a shocking sense of loss, a loss that cannot possibly be made up. As a leader Nasser is irreplaceable, and there is no sign of anyone on the horizon who can match his appeal.

Second, the Arabs are already in a highly nervous state over the situation in the Middle East, which has just witnessed the spectacle of Arabs slaughtering brother Arabs in Jordan's confusing and bloody civil war. Most Arabs blame that development on the West, on "imperialism," and particularly on the United States. Militant Arabs, seeking the destruction of Israel, look upon Hussein as a tool of the Americans and upon his throne as a creation of British colonialism.

Mood Is Ugly

Third, the mood of the militant Arabs has been ugly since the 1967 war, when Nasser was humiliated by Israel. That memory is now likely to flood back and increase the bitterness.

Fourth, the Arabs—at least the many Arabs who are emotionally involved in the crisis—have long been infuriated by the frustrations their cause has met. Now, with their leader gone and nobody in sight to take his place, many are likely to be on the point of desperation—the sort of desperation that could lead to increasing and often unreasoning violence.

U. S. Interests In Danger

If the violence comes, the vast U.S. interests in the Middle East will be in danger. So will the economy of Europe, much of which now depends upon the free flow of Arab oil. In Arab fury, frequently the first objects of attack are the pipelines through Arab lands to funnel oil to the Mediterranean and Europe.

But oil is not the only thing at stake. Also in the balance is the question of dominating influence in an enormous strategic crossroads of the world. At stake too can be such things as airline routes, rights of passage, commerce with the East, and all the cultural ties the West has with the Arab East.

A serious outbreak of violence could even lead to some form of American intervention in the style of Lebanon in 1958, when nothing else would seem to suffice to restore some semblance of calm to the area. Intervention of that sort—just barely avoided in the Jordanian crisis up to now—becomes a specter all over again, and along with it comes the companion ghost of a showdown in the Middle East between the two great superpowers.

Diplomats are likely to plead that it is enormously important now for the world's peace of mind to have some concerted big-power effort toward keeping the lid on a dangerous problem.

Voters By 13-1 Margin Approve School Bonding

BARK RIVER — By a margin of better than 13 to 1, voters of the Bark River-Harris school district Monday approved a $565,000 bond issue to finance construction of a new high school.

About 75 per cent of the total number of registered voters in the district cast ballots on the proposal with 720 favoring the question and only 55 voting against. Two ballots were spoiled, election officials reported.

"This 13 to 1 margin is almost unthinkable in a time when 65 per cent of all school bonding propositions fail in the state," said Elated Supt. of Schools Charles (Bill) Pearson.

Spring Construction
He said initial site studies and preliminary designs have been made by G. Arntzen & Co., architects, Escanaba, and that development of the final design and construction documents is the next order of business.

"After the votes have been officially canvassed, the school district attorney will make arrangements with the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission to prepare and market the bonds," Pearson said. "It is expected that the bonds will be sold before December."

Bids are expected to be let late this winter with construction scheduled to begin next spring. The high school building will be added to the present Bark River-Harris elementary school.

To Set Millage
Members of the school board will determine the exact amount of millage to be levied annually to meet the total debt retirement obligation. By Constitution, Pearson said, this cannot be greater than an additional 4.8 mills. It is expected to require between 3.0 and 4.0 mills.

The bond issue as evidenced by the election result had wide support in the community. The new high school will replace a building erected about 80 years ago.

"The passage of this bond issue by such an overwhelming margin is an indication of the community," Pearson said. "Our people place a high priority on children and their education. This attitude is part of what makes the area a great place in which to live and rear children."

Woolworth Grand Opening Set

The F. W. Woolworth Co. will open its newest U. S. store Wednesday at Delta Plaza.

A grand opening ceremony is planned for 9 a. m. with Mayor Ron DeVos cutting the ribbon to formally open the store for business.

Woolworth executives on hand for the occasion from the Midwestern Regional Office will be C. W. Backhaus, regional vice-president; J. E. Stromenger Jr., assistant regional manager; C. N. Dale, regional personnel director; C. R. Williams, merchandise manager; A. Gerstenberg, merchandise manager; George Davis, construction superintendent and W. A. Martin, director of real estate; all of Minneapolis, Minn.; L. W. Paynter, executive office representative, New York City; Duane Soltau, real estate superintendent and Jay Johnson, store opener, of Minneapolis.

More than a year was spent in planning and constructing this new store in order to incorporate the latest developments in store design and the newest retailing techniques, according to Richard Paradis, associate store manager.

The store represents another step in Woolworth's modernization and expansion program at home and abroad to meet the changing needs of customers. The company's extensive consumer research shows that today's customers like "one-stop" shopping which requires new lines of merchandise, including fashion apparel, and expansion of traditional lines to provide wider selection.

Robert Semrow, store manager, reports the new store will feature different items arranged and displayed for convenient selection. Convenience of the shopper has been paramount in the store's design, including parking facilities adjacent to the store, Paradis added.

Soft lighting, air conditioning and a bright decor are features in the 52,000 square-foot store. Large display windows across the store's exterior will highlight the many unusual merchandise values Woolworth's will offer.

Among the broad array of merchandise will be departmental features such as clothing, home furnishings, jewelry, stationery, books, cosmetics, art reproductions and frames, toys, candy and others.

Conveniently located in the store is Harvest House Cafe with seating for 60 persons. It is equipped with the latest in food service equipment to insure well-prepared food and prompt service.

Working with Paradis and Semrow are 100 sales and clerical personnel.

Store hours will be from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily, except Sunday when it will be open from noon to 5 p. m.

A special opening week sale will be held with many unusual bargains, Paradis said.

Court Asked To Rule On Housing Petitions

A show cause hearing has been scheduled in Circuit Court for Delta County at 3 p. m. Monday, Oct. 12, on a motion in a suit filed against Delta County Clerk William E. Butler in the matter of petitions filed asking that residents of Delta County vote on the county's new Housing Ordinance.

The suit was filed by Attorney Ernest Olivares of Escanaba on behalf of Leonard Gerou, John Froberg and Leo Rahio of Escanaba, who launched the petition drive on the ordinance.

The County Board of Commissioners who adopted the ordinance ruled that the petitions were invalid after an opinion rendered by John Beauchamp, prosecuting attorney.

In their suit, Gerou, Froberg and Rahio ask that the court issue a writ of mandamus directing Butler to accept the petitions to "to call a special or general election for the purpose stated therein."

Hearing on the motion asking Butler to show cause why the writ should not be granted was set Monday at a special session of Circuit Court in Marquette.

The suit charges that the County Board of Commissioners has "no jurisdiction to evaluate the validity of the petitions or role on the law concerning initiative petitions" and says that the "county clerk is not obliged to accept the decision of the County Board of Commissioners in such a question."

35 Major Labor Markets Report Jobless Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reported there are 35 major labor markets enduring substantial or persistent unemployment, the highest figure in six years. Three of these 35 are in Michigan. The department classified for the first time 12 metropolitan areas as having substantial — 6.0 to 8.9 per cent — of their laboring force out of jobs.

Four of them, Flint, Mich.; Saginaw, Mich.; Anaheim-Santa Ana-Garden Grove, Calif., and Albuquerque, N. M., are considered major labor markets.

The others are Center, Ala.; Cedarburg, Ill.; Jerome, Idaho; Waterloo, Iowa; Wellington, Kan.; North Adams, Mass.; and Owosso, Mich.

On Oct. 1, manufacturers in all 12 areas will become eligible for preferential treatment for federal contracts.

Haymeadow Is Now Opened As Salmon Stream

The lower three miles of Haymeadow Creek, a tributary of the Whitefish River and one of the region's famous trout streams, is now opened to late season fishing — Oct. 1 to Dec. 31.

"The purpose is to accomplish a more complete harvest of coho salmon," said Cliff Long, Escanaba, fish biologist, Department of Natural Resources.

Specifically the Haymeadow is put on special late season fishing from the Gravel Pit Bridge in SW 1/4 of Sec. 25 T 42 N. R 21 W., down to the mouth where it joins the Whitefish River.

Long made the announcement after conferring with DNR staff in Lansing, he said.

The lower Haymeadow thus becomes trout waters open to fall fishing, and salmon, trout, and other fish species on which there is open season may be taken from a period that begins the last Saturday in April and extends to Dec. 31.

The extended season is the same as that already applying to the lower Whitefish River, Long said. The Anna River emptying into Lake Superior near Munising has also been placed on the special late season regulation, he added.

Coho were planted first in the Haymeadow by the DNR about two and one-half years ago above the Gravel Pit Bridge and additional plantings have been made since then. A weir placed in the stream is designed to halt the runs of spawning coho to upper reaches of the Haymeadow trout stream, but fishermen report finding coho in many places above the weir.

Long said in announcing the extended season that coho were coming into the Haymeadow last week, but there were none Monday.

"Perhaps they were slowed by the cold weather but we don't know. We expect them to move back in, however," he said.

College Heads Told How To Avoid Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has urged college administrators to outline to students J. Edgar Hoover's views on avoiding campus trouble.

Nixon sent administrators a letter in which the FBI director listed eight tactics employed by campus extremists to lure students into their activities.

The President called Hoover's letter "a cogent and enlightening analysis" of extremist tactics and urged college presidents to get the message to students.

In the letter, Hoover said the campus situation may be serious at some institutions but added: "Along with millions of other adults, I'm betting on the vast majority of students to remain fair-minded, tolerant, inquisitive, but also firm about certain basic principles of human dignity, respect for the rights of others and a willingness to learn."

Here are the eight extremist tactics listed by the FBI director:

— "They'll encourage you to lose respect for your parents and the older generation."

— "They'll try to convert you to the idea that your college is 'irrelevant' and a 'tool of the establishment.'"

— "They'll ask you to abandon your basic common sense."

— "They'll try to envelop you in a mood of negativism, pessimism and alienation toward yourself, your school, your nation."

— "They'll encourage you to disrespect the law and hate the law enforcement officer."

— "They'll tell you that any action is honorable and right if it's sincere or idealistic in motivation."

— "They'll ask you to believe that you, as a student and citizen, are powerless by democratic means to effect change in our society."

— "They'll encourage you to hurl bricks and stones instead of logical argument at those who disagree with your views."

Mead Sponsors Essay Contest

Local high school students will again have the opportunity to compete for several cash awards in a Mead Corp. sponsored Science Essay Contest.

Essays in chemistry, biology and physics will be accepted for the competition through Feb. 15. High school sophomores, juniors, and seniors in the Delta County area are eligible, according to George L. Clarke, Mead's Escanaba plant manager. Research papers or descriptions of student science projects, including techniques employed and results will be accepted.

"Our primary purpose in sponsoring this project is to develop greater interest in the career opportunities science offers," Clarke said. "The rapid expansion of technological developments in our times points to greater and greater demand for scientifically-minded people. Sponsorship of the contest is our way of showing teachers as well as students that we value what they are doing."

First, second, and third awards of $50, $25 and $15 will be made in each of three categories. Science teachers who serve as advisors to the first-place winners will receive a $25 award.

From the three first-prize winning essays an overall best entry will be chosen and its author will receive a special award of $100.

Winners will be announced in April, Clarke said. Local high schools have been supplied with rules covering the competition, and additional copies of the rules are available through the office of Robert E. Barron at the Mead Corp.

Abortion Laws' Success Depends On State Events

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Upcoming legislative sessions in six states hold the key to the future of the abortion law repeal movement, Lawrence Lader, executive committee chairman of the National Association for the Repeal of Abortion Laws said.

Addressing the opening session of the group's two-day national meeting here, Lader said if abortion laws are repealed by bills before the 1971 sessions of state legislatures in Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota, "then it seems reasonable" other states will follow. The organization seeks to breakdown all legal barriers in obtaining an abortion. Representatives of Planned Parenthood and several women's liberation groups were in attendance.

Schools Open

The Rapid River public schools opened Monday, four weeks late, but at least open. It took an extraordinary move by the Board of Education last Thursday — the announcement that school would open Monday with replacement teachers, if necessary. And it took an 11th hour shift in policy by the Rapid River Education Association to allow the regular teachers to report to their classrooms.

But the schools are open and children are in school. The academic situation is as near normal as possible. And that is the important consideration.

The basic differences between the Board of Education and the teachers, are far from resolved. The teachers said they are returning to the classroom "on condition that the Rapid River Board of Education commence good faith bargaining in order to reach an acceptable bargaining agreement." And the school board has said nothing to indicate it has shifted from the stance that brought an "unfair labor practice" charge from the teachers.

But the fact that the teachers made no mention of the fact-finders report in their statement about "good faith bargaining," indicates that they may be willing to talk about a settlement including something less than the fact-finders recommendations which the Board of Education already has rejected, if the school board also will "give a little" from its position.

On the surface, except for the fact that the teachers and students are in class, there is no change. The unfair labor practice charge is still alive. But in strikes, if both parties remained adamant in their positions nothing ever would be settled. One side or the other or both must yield a little. That's what it will take at Rapid River.

Hopefully, the wounds of the past four weeks will heal quickly and the people of the community, the school board, the administration and the teachers can get back to the task of providing the best education possible for the children of the district.

War Powers

Albeit in a sort of negative way, the U. S. fidence on the war in Vietnam. Although in-Senate has given President Nixon a vote of con-creasingly opposed to his war policies, it has declined to limit or interfere with his constitu-tional powers as commander-in-chief.

In a series of crucial votes, after protracted debate and controversy, the Senate decided not to substitute its judgment of how the war should be conducted for the President's, and rejected measures that would have compounded the President's problems.

By a vote of 55 to 39, the Senate defeated the McGovern-Hatfield amendment which would have set a deadline of December 1971 for with-drawing all American forces from Vietnam. The Senate subsequently passed the the $19.2 billion military procurement authorization bill, as re-quested by the President.

The Senate also defeated the Hatfield-Gold-water proposal calling for an all-volunteer army and endorsed the President's defense policies when it voted for deployment of the anti-ballistic missile system (ABM) after defeating a series of amendments that would have halted or frus-trated further work.

The effect of this series of votes is that President Nixon remains fully in charge of war and defense policies. He is relatively unfettered in deciding how best to wage war and seek peace.

The Senate, in acknowledging the Presi-dent's war powers, has also avoided responsibil-ity for the outcome. Whatever credit or blame is to be assigned for conduct of the war in this four-year period belongs to President Nixon and him alone.

Peninsula Potpourri

Full-time enrollment at Lake Superior State College in Sault Ste. Marie is up 5 per cent over last fall. Enrollment has reached 1,336, an in-crease of 63 students. Part-time students are still enrolling for evening courses.

The St. Ignace American Legion Post award-ed citations to the four persons who participated in the rescue of 9-year-old Michael Doud, who was drowning in Moran Bay off Kiwanis beach this summer. They are Peter LaChapelle, James Vaughn, Tony Grondin and Theresa LaJoie.

St. Ignace voters have approved a two-mill ta levy ($2 per $1,000 assessed valuation) for two years by a vote of 160 to 81 in a special election. The millage was requested for the purpose of financing construction of a multi-purpose building to serve as elementary school.

Municipal and school budgets are soaring all over Michigan but not in Bessemer, a small Upper Peninsula community in the western part of the state. The Bessemer School Board adopted a budget for the 1970-'71 school term setting appropriations at $541,463, which is $10,983 less than the previous budget.

A budget of $2,307,158.07, up $448,805, more than the appropriation for the past year, was approved for operation of Ironwood schools in 1970-'71 by the school board. While last year's budget was set at $1,850,352.21, actual expenditures came to $1,927,883.40. The board said the new budget would require a levy of 29.7 mills to obtain $662,723.36 in local revenue to balance the budget. This will be a hike of $666,000 in local education taxes.

A fund drive has been started in the Mass-Ontonagon area to help cover the rising medical costs of Matthew Ahlskog, son of Mrs. Ruth Ahlskog of Mass, who has undergone five cranial operations in St. Luke's Hospital, Marquette. Ahlskog, a junior at Northern Michigan University, was injured in an auto crash in Marquette last May and is still in serious condition. Donation canisters have been placed in the Citizens State and First National Banks and in most business places in Mass and Ontonagon.

How Bad Is Lead In Auto Gasoline?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Charles F. Kettering — the famous "Boss Ket" of General Motors — was the man to do things.

He invented the self-starter on order. He wasn't a chemist, but when the "knock" from raw gasoline proved incompatible with the more sensitive motors he combined with another non-chemist, Thomas Midgley, in a "try anything" attempt to come up with an additive that would keep pistons and cylinders in smooth working order.

By trial and error the Kettering-Midgley team finally hit upon tetraethyl lead—and millions of automobiles have gone on leaded gasoline since the day of its commercial introduction some 45 years ago.

Now lead in gasoline has been named as one of the more ne-farious pollutants. As a "toxic metal" it doesn't deteriorate. If a chromium- deficient rat swal-lows enough of it, it reduces its life span by 20 per cent, which makes one wonder what breath-ing it would do to a chromium-deficient human being. (Query: does anyone know the per-centage of chromium-deficient men and women?)

The Nixon Administration, which is properly alive to the pollution issue, now wants to put a $4.25 per pound tax on lead in gasoline, partly to en-courage experiments on emis-sion-control devices that will work with non-leaded fuel, and partly to raise money to wipe out an estimated federal bud-get deficit of $1.3 billion.

Unfortunately "Boss Ket" is no longer around to invent an engine that will work without doing damage to itself if it uses nothing but lead-free gas.

If it were merely a matter of paying a little more for non-leaded fuel and suffering from the resulting increased wear-and-tear on the motor, most of us would gladly do so in order to improve the quality of the circumambient air.

But there is more to this busi-ness of legislating for emission-control standards than meets the eye. It seem that the methods used for producing a lead-free usable fuel result in adding mysterious elements to the gasoline that could make the exhaust from the tail pipe even more dangerous than it now is.

I am not a chemist, and I can only pass on what a U.S. Bu-reau of Mines research report says on the subject. When "aromatics" are increased in the gasoline in order to compensate for the lack of lead, some mys-terious substances called "poly-nuclear aromatic hydrocar-bons," or "PAH," appear in the engine exhaust.

According to the Bureau of Mines, this actually adds to the photo-chemical "smog" of the Los Angeles eye-irritating type by as much as 25 per cent. Moreover, the PAH molecules have been found by Sloan-Ket-tering Institute researchers to cause cancer in mice.

This doesn't necessarily mean that the molecules would re-main in the atmosphere in suf-ficient quantity to cause cancer in humans. But the possibility remains.

So it could be a matter of jumping from the frying pan in-to the fire if Senator Muskie succeeds in "legislating" the lead out of gasoline by 1975 or 1976. We live in a most mys-terious world, and if one only increases the smog by trying to get rid of it, then where are we?

"I don't own any lead stock, and, at the behest of my pol-lution-conscious 12-year-old son I frequently buy the new Amoco non - leaded gasoline even though it is a bit more ex-pensive. So I think I take off from a reasonably objective stance in trying to get to the bottom of the big lead versus non-lead controversy.

The lead interests will tell you that a federal tax on lead will backfire by cutting off ex-periments on devices designed to trap lead before it comes out of the exhaust. The DuPont Co., the Ethyl Corp. and Mobil Oil all claim to have developed satisfactory emission - control systems that operate on leaded fuels. The California Air Re-sources Board says the DuPont "manifold reactor system" on a car using leaded gasoline "meets nearly all of the 1980 proposed federal emission standards."

The auto companies them-selves, however, seem to have come down on the side of lead-free gas for the further future, assuming that their technolo-gists and scientists will develop catalytic control systems that can work efficiently with non-leaded fuel. At least General Motors President Edward N. Cole has been quoted in a De-troit newspaper as saying that unleaded gasoline will ultimate-ly extend the life of emission-control systems.

So, between the theories, you pay your money and you take your choice. But you should be aware that no matter what you do you may still be polluting the air.

Scientists Can Create 'Pretend Or Toy World'

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Scientists now can create any kind of pretend or toy world that they want—in order to learn what is really going on in the environment of the real world.

They can jiggle the toy worlds around to dig out facts that can replace some guesses about what is causing pollution or trouble in man's environment.

And they can study, in ad-vance, whether some proposed remedy would actually work, or whether it might backfire with unexpected upsets in the in-tricate balance of nature.

Furthermore, the experimen-tal worlds may lead to discov-ery of unsuspected phenomena or forces affecting man, plants and animals.

48-Room Facility

These are some of the prom-ises from a unique new research facility, the Biotron at the Uni-versity of Wisconsin here. It contains 48 rooms, ranging from closet-sized to a two-story room, in which almost any environ-ment can be produced, and kept under control by individual computers.

Temperatures can be pre-scribed from arctic cold to desert heat. A room may be kept bright with continuous daylight, or black with 24-hour night, or any proportion of each. Air may be kept mountain-pure or in-tentionally tainted with ingredients of smog or other chemicals. Hu-midity comes at order. A wind tunnel can produce slight breezes and winds of hurricane force. You can prescribe cycles of daily or seasonal change for growing things.

Dedicated Recently

The $4.8-million Biotron Labo-ratory was dedicated recently with scientists stressing that an essential requirement for solv-ing complex problems of envi-ronment is first to learn what is really going on in the interac-tions of man, his land, air, wa-ter, climate, plants and ani-mals. The ability to simulate different environments and to set up and alter experimental conditions becomes a powerful tool.

Eight years in planning and construction, the Biotron was paid for by the National Science Foundation, the National Insti-tutes of Health, the Ford Foun-dation, and State of Wisconsin. It is available for scientists from United States and foreign universities, government and in-dustry—with a cost of 10 cents per square foot per day, or 15 cents if the chosen climate runs below freezing.

Some Work Complete

Some research began in May three years ago, with a smog-gasbord of projects either com-pleted, now in progress, or scheduled.

They include the effects of ex-treme heat or extreme cold on the growth of cancers in ani-mals; how to keep germs out of sausage during the curing pro-cess; the effect of acute cold and prolonged exhaustive work on humans; hormonal control of plant growth and development; causes of Asian flu; the im-provement of protein content of cowpeas; a search for better methods of garbage disposal and sanitary landfill, and the effects of different levels of DDT in the body at different temper-atures.

Maybe bean plants could be-come a kind of environmental canary, warning of some pol-lution or stress in the environ-ment at a very early stage, much like canaries were taken into coal mines to detect any presence of dangerous gases.

Plants Illuminated

This is a project of Dr. Theo-dore W. Tibbitts, University of Wisconsin horticulturalist, who's growing bean plants now under 24-hour illumination.

Ordinarily bean plants follow a 24-hour cycle of dropping their leaves to "sleep" and raising them again when the plants "awake." Under constant light-ing, they follow a 27-hour cycle, and in movies taken under time-lapse photography, the Opening lead — jack of spades.

You shouldn't finesse merely because the opportunity to do so exists. There are times when it is better to concede a trick than try to save it. It's all a question of the particular problem you're faced with.

Consider this deal where West led a spade against six diamonds. It would seem to be normal to win with the ace, draw trumps, lead the jack of clubs and finesse.

But if you did this you would go down. You would lose a club and, eventually, a heart. True, if the clubs had been divided 3-3 on the trumps 2-2, you would have made the slam—but they weren't, so you didn't.

However, this would be the wrong way to play the hand. The chance of winning the club finesse is exceptionally poor. West's lead of the jack of spades marks East with the K-Q, and it is therefore cer-tainly reasonable to place West with the king of clubs, since that is the only high card out-side of hearts that he can have for his overcall.

Accordingly, after drawing three rounds of trumps, South should lead a low club towards dummy's J-4!

West is powerless against this play. The best he can do is take the king, dummy fol-lowing low, of course. What-ever he returns, South disposes of two hearts from dummy on his A-Q of clubs and ruffs the seven of hearts to bring home the slam.

The extra trick declarer gains on this line of play ma-terializes because he forces West to play his king of clubs "on air," that is, West is com-pelled to win the club trick with the king as South contri-butes the lowly three while dummy plays the four.

Grace Under Pressure Not For Young Girl

Dear Ann Landers: When I read your reply to the woman whose husband has been hav-ing a three-year affair, I thought for a moment this was 1930 and Kathleen Norris was still alive.

So you believe a mother should cover up for the rat, protect him even though he doesn't deserve it, eh? The kids will think, when they get older, that their mother has class, will they?

Your definition of class—"grace under pressure"—really killed me. How do you like my definition: Grace under pressure is Her Serene High-ness, the Princess of Monaco, wearing her 1955 girdle.

Sorry, but I think you're all wet. When a man cheats, I see no reason why his wife should protect him from the kids. That particular mother signed her-self "Ostrich Whose Children Have Good Vision." If their vision is really good they're probably looking ahead ten years wondering which one of them will be elected to support Mom, when Dad decides to dump her.—No Class But Good Vision

Dear No Class: You missed the point, Bright Eyes. Even kids who have severe myopia will see after awhile that their dad is behaving like a skunk. No one will have to draw them a diagram. I say let the guy's deeds do him in. Why should Mom demean herself by talk-ing against him? Anti-spouse dialogue, by either mother or father, is always self-defeat-ing and it encourages the kids to choose sides. It can also produce ulcers, migraine and other unpleasantness.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a traveling man who reads your articles in several newspapers around the country. I've seen about ten different pictures of you and I wonder what you really look like — or do you actually exist.

In some pictures you ap-pear to be an average house-wife of about 45. Then again, I've seen pictures that are very much younger looking — you might even say downright sexy. The Detroit Free Press carries a picture that makes you look like an old bat. Long Island Newsday and the Wash-ington Post used to print your picture but they stopped. Is it because you have fallen apart and they don't want the public to know? My sister who lives in San Francisco says they have never printed your pic-ture because you are a man.

The Sun-Times in Chicago has the best pictures of all, and they change them around a lot. I would like to ask the following questions:

- (1) How old are you?
- (2) Is the picture that ap-pears in the San Bernardino paper a recent one? Has it been touched up a lot?
- (3) Why don't you send all the newspapers your latest Photo?

Will the real Ann Landers please stand up? — A People Watcher

Dear Watcher: (1) I was 32 on July 4. (2) I don't know which picture the San Bernar-dino Sun-Telegram is using or if they are "touching it up." That paper is very much on the ball, so I'd wager they are using the latest. (3) I have sent all the papers a recent picture but some of them pre-fer to use the old ones.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this com-prehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of your news-paper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Importance Of Power Supply Meet Topic

CHICAGO (AP) — Efforts to preserve the environmental con-dition of Lake Michigan must take into account the potential impact on power supply in the area, an adviser to the Federal Power Commission says.

Environmental adviser Fred-erick H. Warren spoke Monday about new standards being con-sidered for Lake Michigan the Department of Interior. He ad-dressed the opening of a five-day workshop on lake pollution. The workshop is being conducted by the Lake Michigan Enforcement Conference.

Warren said electric power is of such importance to the health and well-being of Chicago citi-zens and their economic situa-tion that it would be "unaccept-able" to stop scheduled power projects unless they seriously jeopardize human health or ma-jor ecological systems.

Donald H. Brandt, air and water quality control director for Consumers Power Co. of Jackson, Mich., told the con-ference that the federal govern-ment was making it difficult for power companies to plan ahead to meet expected power increas-es.

Proposed federal standards on thermal pollution would permit the discharge from power plants of water no more than one de-gree warmer than the natural water temperature. Illinois, cur-rent thermal pollution standard permits the discharge of water up to five degrees warmer than the natural water temperature.

"We could design our plants to meet reasonable standards," Brandt said, "but the plants nearing completion today were on the drawing boards as long as seven years ago."

Inkster Only
State School
Still Unopen

By The Associated Press
The Inkster Board of Education plans to seek a court injunction to force teachers to return to the classroom in hopes of ending the only remaining teacher strike in Michigan.

Wayne County Circuit Judge John D. O'Hair set a hearing on the request for 9 a.m. Wednesday. A school board attorney said the action will be taken against the Inkster Federation of Teachers, who are striking over a salary dispute.

Meanwhile, teachers at Alpena went to their classrooms for the first time this fall today, after voting 335-7 Monday to ratify a new contract. The contract offers a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree a salary of $7,750, an increase of $500, and a teacher with 11 years experience and a master's degree, $13,485, an $870 increase.

Alpena has 10,000 students.

Meanwhile, 39 school districts remain without contracts, but teachers remain on the job in them.

At dispute in the Inkster school district is the salary schedule. Teacher are asking $8,000 a year for a beginning teacher, but the board has offered $500 less. For experienced teachers, the union is asking $15,500 maximum, $2,500 more than the board has offered.

Inkster school board officials said the higher salaries would jeopardize the district's delicate budget and could mean the eventual disbanding of the district. Teachers contend the budget is adequate to meet their demands.

Wife Of Sawyer
Airman Killed
In Ohio Crash

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) —Rosemary McConnell, 39, of Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., was killed early today when the car she was riding in was struck head on about 15 miles north of Dayton on Interstate 75.

Her husband, John, 42, their son, William, 17, and the driver of the second car suffered minor injuries. Police said the second vehicle was traveling south in the northbound lane.

New Contract Ratified:

City Sets Open House
For Filtration Plant

GLADSTONE — Gladstone residents will have the opportunity to see the city's new water filtration plant Oct. 23-24.

At its regular meeting Monday, the City Commission set the open house days and appointed Mayor Raymond Norton and Mayor Pro-Tem Douglas Bovin as co-chairmen of the event.

The commission also approved the final inspection service invoice to Williams & Works, Inc., engineers, in the amount of $2,536.

Fleet insurance was awarded to the lowest of two bidders, Farm Bureau Insurance Group, for $1,870. Hupy Insurance Agency of Gladstone also submitted a bid.

Contract Ratified
The Commission also ratified as of Oct. 1 the two-year contract with Teamsters Local 328, representing city employees. An hourly wage increase of 10 cents per hour from April 1 to Aug. 1, 1970, 10 cents from Aug., 1970, to April, 1971, and another 20 cent increase at that time is provided by the contract.

Under the new contract, the city also will pay half of a family's Blue Cross hospital insurance plan for those applying for family coverage this year and after April, 1971, will pay full family coverage.

Currently, the city pays hospitalization insurance only for the employee.

Bids Received
Three bids for the proposed public works storage facility were received and referred to City Manager Howard Keeton for analysis and recommendation. The proposed garage will cost an estimated $58,000 to $59,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson, 1011 Minnesota Ave., again appealed to the commission to make every effort to insure the safety of children in the area of the new Gladstone State Savings Bank which adjoins their property. The Andersons suggested a walkway be provided by the bank to allow children to pass through to reach the alley in order to avoid entrance and exit traffic at the drive-in bank.

They proposed that the alley entrance be closed to bank traffic.

Meeting Planned
At a previous commission meeting, bank representatives indicated the bank has no plans to use the alley and could easily fence the area if necessary.

Since the Planning Commission has recommended a fence be installed to separate the business and residential areas and since the city attorney has assured the city manager that there is no need to rezone the parking area as city ordinances do not prohibit parking areas in a residential zone, the commission voted to schedule a meeting with bank officials and invite the Andersons to attend.

The Commission also authorized Keeton to appoint an election board and to increase salaries $18 and $16 to $22 and $20. Two election boards are used with the voting machines.

Foundation Discussed
Mrs. Clyde McGonagle, 818 Wisconsin Ave., owner of the property formerly occupied by the Buckeye Store on N. 9th St., appeared at the public hearing regarding the hazardous condition of an open concrete foundation on the property.

Mrs. McGonagle said the property is for sale and the foundation would increase the value. She said her attorney has advised her she is not required to have the foundation filled.

Keeton said residents in the area continually complain of the dangerous condition existing because of a deep hole adjoining the alley and of an "unsightly appearance." The Commission tabled action pending an opinion from the city attorney.

The city manager announced the appointment of Michael LaPine and Elmer Caron to the Housing Commission and read a letter from Sahara Coal Co., supplier of coal to the city, that as of Oct. 1 the price of coal will be increased $1.30 per ton. The price increase has been included in the company's bill.

Dennis A. Grall

Grall Named
Sports Editor

Appointment of Dennis A. Grall as sports editor of the Escanaba Daily Press was announced today by David L. Andrews, editor, and Ralph Kaziatek, general manager.

Grall succeeds Don Howes, who resigned earlier this month.

Grall was born in Sheboygan, Wis., June 1, 1946, and attended schools in Manitowoc, Green Bay and Marinette, Wis. and in Chicago, Ill. He graduated from Marinette Catholic Central High School in 1964, and then attended Lakeland College at Sheboygan, Wis., and the University of Wisconsin Extension in Manitowoc.

He enlisted in the United States Marine Corps in 1966 and served for two years, including an eight and one half month tour of duty as an infantryman in Vietnam. Grall was wounded in action twice in the stretch of one month, the second time requiring hospitalization at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital for nine months.

Autumn Colors
Peaking In U.P.

Michigan's Upper Peninsula is staging its annual fall color show, with color ranging from 50 to 85 per cent throughout most of the peninsula and heavier in the western sector, according to reports to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Peak autumn color conditions are expected in the U. P. the weekend of October 3-4, with excellent color continuing the following week if weather conditions hold. Color viewers throughout the Upper Peninsula should enjoy near maximum color during that week and through the following week-end.

Colors in the northern part of the lower peninsula are reported between 10 and 50 per cent of maximum. Good color is expected in the Gaylord and Boyne City areas the weekend of October 3-4, with the peak expected the weekend of Oct. 10-11.

Some color in isolated areas has been reported in central and southern Michigan.

To help plan your color tour, the Michigan Autumn Color Tour Guide, with maps and directions for 24 suggested tours throughout the state, is available without charge from the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, 48926.

Kelley Denies Office Delaying Decisions

LANSING (AP) — Incompetence in the attorney general's office is charged by James F. O'Neil, member of the State Board of Education, citing delays in answers to a number of opinions requested.

"Erroneous on one hand and obviously political on the other," Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley immediately responded.

O'Neil, in a letter to Kelley with a copy to Gov. William Milliken, contended Kelley had not replied to a request for an opinion on the parochial constitutional amendment to appear on the November election ballot.

O'Neil said the state superintendent of public instruction did reply after being advised by the attorney general's office.

Kelley replied crisply that O'Neil was in error. "There are no opinions or requests on parochial matters before us at this time," he said.

O'Neil also charged there have been long delays from Kelley's office in answering some requests for rulings in education matters. Others still have not been answered, he said.

He cited requests for rulings on school accreditation, asked 20 months ago, and on establishment of area vocational programs, asked 32 months ago, and both still unanswered.

"There seems to be incompetence in your office as evidence by the above facts," O'Neil said.

"We have more requests from the Education Department—about five to one—than from any other department," Kelley commented. "Mr. O'Neil is one of the most prolific requesters of opinions and we wish he would just exercise some restraint.

"In any event, we are doing the best we can," said the attorney general. "His letter is erroneous on one hand and obviously political on the other."

O'Neil has kept up a running fire of criticism of Kelley on claimed opinion delays.

"I try to keep politics out of my office and will comment no further," concluded Kelley, a candidate for reelection.

Economy Not 'Up To Snuff,' GOP Learns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's forecasting economic indicators turned downward today after two months of increases, providing the Nixon administration with a mild dose of unpleasant news.

The Commerce Department said its index of "leading indicators," which measure statistics likely to affect the economy in coming months, dropped three-tenths of one per cent during August.

It rose substantially in July and slightly in June.

The department's chief economist, Asst. Secretary Harold C. Passer, said the small decline "does not negate the basic pattern of upswing in the leading indicators that has developed over the last several months."

It still gives "strong evidence that a general upward movement in the economy is underway," he said, because the index is above the low point it reached during the economic slowdown induced by the administration's anti-inflation program.

Passer noted that six of the eight indicators available so far declined during August, while only stock prices and housing permits improved. But he said all except raw materials prices have increased since the low point reached in May.

The index for August was 115.4 per cent of the 1967 average used as a base. In July, the figure was 115.8, up 1.6 per cent from its June level of 114.0.

To Review Plan

LANSING (AP)—Receipt of a report by Macro Systems Inc. on health care in Michigan was announced Monday by Gov. William Milliken.

He said a group of state officials would review the report and give him their recommendations before the end of October. The report was prepared at the request of the Michigan Insurance Bureau.

Task Force Asks Selective Lift Of Fishing Ban

LANSING (AP)—A member of a task force studying economic effects of the governor's fishing ban says a "selective lifting" of the ban should be considered.

Rep. David Serotkin, R-Mount Clemens, said Monday some kinds of fish apparently are less susceptible to mercury pollution than others.

"I believe we should consider a selective lifting of the ban in such cases, rather than continuing the blanket ban until all fish are safe for consumption," he said.

Serotkin said that under such a system, the ban would be lifted on a species-by-species basis, as tests show which types of fish are safe for human consumption.

Serotkin is a member of a task force appointed by the governor to study ways of compensating persons who have suffered hardships from the fishing ban in Detroit-area waters.

Fish may be caught, but not kept, under an order issued by Milliken several months ago after high levels of mercury were found in fish.

Buckeyes Retain Grid Poll Lead; Michigan Ninth

By The Associated Press
Ohio State, Texas and Stanford retained the first places today in The Associated Press college football poll while Colorado and Air Force joined the Top Ten following impressive victories over Penn State and Missouri, which were knocked out. Colorado's 41-13 rout of Penn State, which hadn't lost in 31 games and had won 23 in a row, boosted the Buffaloes from 18th to eighth and dropped the Nittany Lions from fourth to 16th, the biggest decline.

Air Force climbed from 20th to 10th via a 37-14 rout of Missouri while the Tigers, ninth a week ago, barely stayed in the Top Twenty with a ranking of 20th.

Rock Breaks Losing Streak

ROCK — The Rock Little Giants Saturday afternoon finally snapped out of the throes of a 20-game losing streak to trounce the Carney Wolves 52-22.

The Little Giants had gone three years without the sweet taste of victory. Their last win was recorded in the final game of the 1966 season when they beat Powers.

Craig Westlund and Eddy Wadeen led Rock to victory Saturday over the inexperienced Wolves. Westlund was a double threat, passing for two touchdowns and a total of 101 yards through the air, and 68 more yards on the ground. Wadeen ground out 107 yards on the ground, to cap the rushing lead in the game.

Rock had other heroes in their first win of the year. Jerry Maki blocked a Carney punt and fell on the ball for a touchdown. Randy Carlson tallied twice, once as a pass receiver and again on the ground. Bruce Nummiller chalked up a pair of two point conversions. Wadeen and Westlund rounded out the scoring for Rock, each with a pair of touchdowns.

Gil Haight paced the weak Carney attack as he ground out 95 yards in 11 carries. Ed Benson gathered in a Carney pass to score on a 40 yard pass play. Rock dominated the entire game, gaining a total of 323 yards, 208 on the ground and 115 through the air. The Little Giants held Carney to only three first downs in the game. Their defense allowed 138 yards on the ground and 55 yards in the air.

Rock will try to make it a two game winning streak Saturday when they travel to Bark River. The Little Giants are 1-2 on the season. The Carney Wolves have lost three games this year, one of those by forfeit. The Wolves play at Powers Friday.

Salani's Quick Decision Aids Spartans In Victory

EAST LANSING — Upper Michigan's Dick Salani of Hancock made a quick decision last Saturday which played a big part in Michigan State's 28-14 win over Washington State.

The play came in the third quarter with MSU leading 7-6. The Spartans had taken over the ball on their three yard line and their drive had apparently bogged down on the MSU 49.

It was fourth down and eight to go for the first down when Salani entered the game for what appeared to be an obvious punting situation. Here's the way coach Duffy Daugherty explained the play. "We noticed earlier in the game that Washington State was dropping their defensive ends back on our punts to help form a blocking wall for the receiver. I told Rich that if he saw them do it again he was to try and run. I told him not to run deep in our territory but if we were around mid-field to go ahead and try it."

Dick Salani

As it turned out the Washington State ends did peel back when the ball was snapped. Salani took one step to continue the fake and then took off running toward wide open spaces to his left.

"In the movies of the game," Daugherty explained, "it looked like their defensive right end was leading Salani's interference."

Salani gained 11 yards and a first down on the play. Actually he might have gone a lot farther if he hadn't slipped on the artificial turf which was still wet from a morning downpour.

That play kept the Spartan drive going and seven plays later Henry Matthews bucked over right tackle on fourth and one for the TD. It gave MSU a 14-6 lead.

Daugherty was quizzed on why Salani did the punting against Washington State since East Lansing sophomore Mark Gruda did all the punting a week earlier against Washington University.

"Gruda's timing seems to be off. Last week he wasn't getting the ball high enough in practice. Salani was booting them good and high even though he never punted as a freshman."

Besides that with his left-footed kicking it puts an unusual twist on the ball which makes it hard for the receivers to field. We like the way Rich kicks and we plan to keep right on using him."

Pat Miller of Menominee was also in uniform for the first time this season. He missed the opener at Seattle and reported to the squad a week ago Monday.

Miller was the second leading punter in the Big Ten last year with an average of 39.4 yards per kick. Salani averaged 38.3 yards on seven kicks last Saturday. His last punt was his best. It was a 48 yarder near the end of the game.

So with the left-footed Salani and the right-foot kicking of Miller, Upper Michigan players will be putting a lot of foot into Michigan State football this season.

This Saturday they take on unbeaten Notre Dame in a game which Daugherty says will find MSU rated as the biggest underdog in the school's history.

Chiefs Crush Baltimore By Humiliating Margin

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts have suffered worse defeats, but none seemed quite so humiliating.

Even the rabid Baltimore fans were streaming out of Memorial Stadium long before the world champion Kansas City Chiefs administered a 44-24 pasting Monday night.

"We stunk out the place in the first half," said Baltimore's rookie head coach, Don McCafferty. "That includes all phases of the game—offense, defense, the special teams ... and even the coaching."

The first half ended with the Chiefs on top 31-7 and they increased the luge to 41-10 before Baltimore added two meaningless fourth quarter touchdowns.

The time was ripe for a good showing by Baltimore. After posting the best record in the NFL during the past 12 years, 112-48-4, the Colts were one of three old guard teams shifted to the American Conference under the realignment.

In their first home game against a team from the old American Football League, the Colts were taking on the Super Bowl champs. The Chiefs had lost their 1970 opener to Minnesota the week before, and Baltimore had beaten them in an exhibition 17-3.

The Chiefs exploded. They were tricky, elusive and explosive on offense and running back kicks. They were devastating on defense.

Quarterback Lenny Dawson of the Chiefs picked apart the Colts' defense for nine pass completions in 12 attempts for 152 yards and four touchdowns. Frank Pitts caught three passes for 62 yards and two TDs.

Place kicker Jan Stenerud booted three field goals and scored 14 points.

Safety Johnny Robinson grabbed three of Kansas City's five interceptions, setting up 10 points with his runbacks of 14 and 27 yards. He also scored a touchdown after running 46 yards with a Colt fumble.

The massive Chiefs also crashed through to toss John Unitas and Earl Morrall a total of seven times for 73 yards in losses.

Unitas, who didn't play the last 35 minutes, undoubtedly had the worst day of his 15-year career. He had five completions in 15 attempts for a net of just 28 yards after his three losses behind the line were subtracted.

Morrall, dumped four times for 43 yards, wound up with 200 yards net on 17 for 36 and had three scoring passes. Ed Hinton caught 11 Baltimore passes for 190 yards and one TD.

"I could read their keys," Unitas said of the Kansas City defense. "But I just didn't have the proper amount of time to throw. Our guys were picking them up, but couldn't hold them. They just kept coming."

Intrepid Wins America's Cup

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — It was another breeze for the United States in the America's Cup yachting classic ... and the question is: who'll be making waves as challengers in the future?

After Intrepid beat back Australia's Gretel II by one minute and 44 seconds, or roughly 10 boat lengths, Monday to take the best-of-7 series four races to one, speculation turned to the probable 1973 challenger for the Cup which has never left America.

A spokesman for the Gretel II assured the New York Yacht Club, the Cup's governing body, that Australia would come back for another crack at the treasured 119-year-old trophy.

The French, who challenged for the first time this year and lost in the preliminaries to Gretel, were expected to be back under pen magnate Baron Marcel Bich.

British yachtsman Eric Maxwell also is interested and a West German group has reportedly been watching the race with interest. The yacht club has 90 days to announce participants for 1973.

Monday's final race was nose-to-nose two thirds around the 24.3-mile course here. The gift of the wind gods and the steady hand of helmsman Bill Ficker took charge as the skind-bald Californian bested Australia's Jim Hardy at his own game on a wild 4.5-mile home stretch.

Ficker had blundered in similar condition Thursday when Gretel II slid by him a mile from the finish by failing to match Hardy's maneuvers closely enough. Hardy won then, but Ficker, had learned his lesson and stayed on top of his rival as the Aussies' chased the errant waves, hoping for a private one to carry him ahead.

Ficker didn't let him out from under and matched Intrepid's second straight challenge victory having beaten Australia's Dame Pattie 4-0 in 1967.

Just before the start, there was a last chapter in Gretel II's disqualification that cost her a triumph in the second race. The NYCC race committee delivered a note to both boats saying that a second effort by the Aussies to reopen the disqualification had been turned down.

Sir Frank then messaged from aboard his tender, Pearl Necklace, that he was dropping the matter.

"I was darn glad" said Devereux Barker III, chairman of the committee. "I hope any animosity from this in years to come will fade into the background." Some yachtsmen think the committee is in a difficult spot in ruling on protests under its own regulations and involving a boat raced by its own members but Hardy didn't agree.

"I wouldn't take this out of the club's hands. It's part of the whole Cup tradition. I think they made their decision with a lot of integrity." He added he thought the overlap rule involved in the collision that disqualified Gretel II was ambiguous.

"But if we were good enough on this occasion we would have won in spite of this interpretation," he said.

Mets Tie For Second By Beating Cubs 6-3

Wayne Garrett's dramatic home run came too late to help the New York Mets after their last weekend in Pittsburgh but it did get the defending world champions even with the Chicago Cubs.

The Mets, who dropped three straight to the Pirates, including Sunday's 2-1 loss, enabling the Pirates to clinch the National League East Division title, were on their way to dropping another Monday night when first Donn Clendenon and then Garrett exploded.

The Mets pulled it out in the 10th inning, winning 6-3 on Garrett's 12th homer of the season, placing the Mets and Cubs in a flat-footed tie for second place with three games remaining against each other.

In the only other National League game, Houston blanked San Francisco 3-0.

In the American League, Minnesota edged Kansas City 1-0 and California nipped Chicago 4-3.

Clendenon gave the Mets a life Monday night when he slammed his 22nd homer—a two-run shot—in the ninth inning off Ken Holtzman, giving New York a 3-3 tie. The pair of runs batted in gave Clendenon 95 for the season, a club record.

Holtzman had been breezing on a four-hitter until Cleon Jones slammed a two-out single before Clendenon's shot. The left-hander was given a 3-1 edge in the sixth when Tommy Davis connected for a three-run blast.

Then in the 10th, Jerry Grote doubled off Hoyt Wilhelm and after two outs, Dave Marshall walked. Garrett then followed with his game-winner.

Starter Gary Gentry issued only three hits in six innings and Met relievers Tug McGraw and Danny Frisella stopped the Cubs the rest of the way without a hit.

State, Local Governments Feel Tight Money 'Pinch'

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)—The evidence may be seen in many towns and cities throughout America: overcrowded schools, potholed roads, poor water supplies and otherwise inadequate municipal facilities.

State and local governments have had a hard time of it in the financial markets during 1969 and most of 1970. Borrowing costs were up, money was tight. And though the situation has eased lately, the physical evidence remains.

Chronic Situation?

Moreover, a good many financial analysts speculate that the situation may become chronic and suggest that new methods of borrowing must be devised for nonfederal governments, perhaps even involving subsidies of some sort.

This is the situation that has produced a somewhat shabby appearance in more than a few cities and towns today: Inflation during the late 1960s grew so dangerously that the federal government was forced into action. Stringent monetary policies were put into practice in order to stifle demand that was overstraining the economy.

Pressure Noted

This meant upward pressure on borrowing costs, and that meant that cities and towns were forced to pay steadily increasing yields in order to induce buyers to purchase their bonds.

As the prices rose, shocked controllers faced their highest borrowing costs in history. And finally, as bond buyers continued to demand higher inducements, one town after another was forced to delay or postpone projects.

Other sections of the bond market apparatus were being hurt also. The profits of underwriters were being shaved thin, and some of them began losing. It was difficult to sell bonds when money rates were higher elsewhere.

One of the main attractions of municipal bonds, the tax-exemption feature, also came under attack, and the House Ways and Means Committee announced it would re-examine the traditional policy. Buyers were frightened.

Investors Shy Away

Investors in tax-exempt municipal bonds now must balance the rewards of tax-exemption against the possibility that sometime during the life of purchases the tax policy might indeed be changed.

The total effect of this was devastating to the plans of many cities. With a federal tight money policy in effect, and with some investors frightened away by the question of tax-exemption, there just wasn't enough money available for the most necessary projects in some of the most financially sound municipalities.

Question Remains

The question now being argued in financial circles is whether the structure will ever be able to accommodate the borrowing needs of local and state governments.

What will the remedy be? Some proposals call for federal subsidies to investors. And some suggestions call for subsidies to lenders, so as to permit them to offer more attractive yields.

The more optimistic seers still maintain that the market will straighten itself out and that the financing needs of governments will be handled without chronic problems—if inflation is contained.

It's a very big "if."

Semrow Named Store Manager

Robert W. Semrow is the manager of the new Woolworth store at Delta Plaza, announced C. W. Backhaus, mid-western regional vice president.

The new store will open Wednesday.

Semrow joined the Woolworth Co. in 1937 and after completing the company's management training course worked in various Woolworth stores in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. He has managed Woolworth stores in Milwaukee, Wis., Clarinda, Iowa, Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Council Bluffs, Iowa. He is married.

The new Woolworth's contains 58,752 square feet and is completely air-conditioned and equipped with the most modern fixtures available.

Among the features of the new store is a restaurant facility seating 60 persons and a quick-service snack bar for sandwiches and beverages.

The new store's ready-to-wear section will reflect the Woolworth policy of continuous upgrading of merchandise and will include many high-fashion items of clothes for the entire family.

Robert W. Semrow

Also featured will be a large home furnishings department, stocking such items as curtains, draperies, towels, bedding, and rugs, and decorator items such as lamps, lamp shades, framed pictures and ceramics.

The store is designed to meet the changing needs of today's modern customer who likes "one-stop" shopping with new lines of quality merchandise and wider selection in the various lines.

RICHARD PARADIS, associate manager of the Woolworth Department Store in the new Delta Plaza, has worked for Woolworth for nine years and came to Escanaba last February. He and his wife Jane live on Portage Point Road. Paradis was an assistant manager in Marshall, Willmar, Fergus Falls and St. Cloud, Minn., and Brookfield Square Shopping Center in Milwaukee. He has been manager of stores in Milwaukee and Escanaba before opening the department store at Delta Plaza. He is an active member of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

MRS. BARBARA NEBEL, 29, is the advertising coordinator for the new Woolworth store and is a resident of Kipling. The mother of three children, Barb is a graduate of Holy Name High school and was formerly employed at the Delta Reporter in Gladstone. Her hobbies include photography and writing and she is an active member of the Delta County Republican Committee serving on the steering committee. The Nebels are members of All Saints Church in Gladstone.

Store Includes Sports Center

Golfers, hunters, fishermen, ball players and other sportsmen in the Escanaba area will have a new sports center Wednesday—the sporting goods department of the F. W. Woolworth Co.'s newest store, opening at Delta Plaza.

Summer and winter sporting goods and accessories will be carried in season, and some of the categories will be available the year around.

Presiding over the center will be Mr. Jerry Hanneman who has 10 years of retail sporting goods experience in the Escanaba area.

"The decision to open a large sporting goods department was based on market research studies which showed there is a need for such a facility to supply nationally known sporting goods at competitive prices," reports Robert Semrow, the new store manager.

Fishing tackle and golf supplies will be offered the year around. Equipment for team sports such as baseball, football, soccer and volley ball will be available on a seasonal basis.

Complete lines of golf and hunting equipment are stocked. Among other categories are camping equipment, bicycles, tricycles, and pool tables, summer water sports items, barbell and other exercisers; archery supplies and tennis equipment.

Accessories available include hunting clothes, insulated underwear, coveralls, hunting gloves, binoculars and ammunition, etc., in season.

MRS. GEORGE (JOYCE) RODMONICH is head of the Ladies Ready-To-Wear Department. Before coming to work at the new Woolworth store in Delta Plaza, Mrs. Rodmonich worked for Woolworth in 1953 in Manitowoc, Wis. She uses her spare time working with Girl Scouts and has been a Scout Leader for four years. Her husband is a marine diesel mechanic.

JAMES LAVELLE, 720 N. 3rd St., Wells, is originally from Gladstone and is a retired Air Force major. Lavelle, head of the Appliance Department, worked in appliance sales at Sears before coming to Woolworth. His hobbies include fishing and "rock" hunting. He is a graduate of Gladstone High School and is married and the father of three children.

Farm Task Force Plans Outlined

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Calling the proper use of farmland "an important part of the overall problem of the environment," Gov. William Milliken Sunday outlined plans for the special Governor's Task Force on the Future of Agriculture.

Milliken told an audience of 400 agricultural leaders in Traverse City that the task force, appointed Aug. 21, had three assignments:

—To determine the present economic situation of Michigan agriculture and trends that will influence it.

—To seek the views of Michigan farmers on agricultural problems and their solutions.

—To recommend by Dec. 1 programs to assist Michigan farmers.

Plaza Woolworth Store Part Of World Program

The modern F. W. Woolworth store opening at Delta Plaza in Escanaba represents another forward step in the modernization and expansion program of the world's largest variety and general merchandise store chain.

The store reflects the use of the newest in scientific techniques to provide for the needs of today's consumers and to anticipate their future desires, company officials said.

Location of the new Woolworth store was based on scientific site selection, utilizing exhaustive marketing, population, economic and similar studies, developed by the company's real estate department which has had many years of experience, officials added.

Consumer research measures trends in spending patterns, shopping habits, age groups, and even the degree of consumers' sophistication in their buying.

These facts are analyzed in Woolworth's executive offices, enabling the company to meet the needs of a population boom, to create more and better jobs and provide opportunities for advancement that are essential in attracting the caliber of employee the company needs to assure its continuing growth.

Offer 65,000 Items

The largest dominant stores being opened under an aggressive expansion program provide the increased floor space necessary for new and expanded lines of quality merchandise. They now offer approximately 65,000 different items.

Leading in the upgrading program is fashion merchandise, particularly wearing apparel and footwear for the entire family. Keeping pace are upgraded lines of rugs, draperies, lamps, housewares, appliances, garden supplies, sporting goods, pet supplies, radios and stereos. There are many other departments including jewelry, cosmetics, stationery, books, art, toys and candy.

To accommodate the hungry shopper most Woolworth stores feature restaurant facilities including luncheonettes and/or cafeterias which serve more than one million dinners daily.

4,300 Stores
Woolworth has been expanding both at home and abroad and now operates more than 4,300 stores in eleven countries. Stores are in all 50 of the United States and Puerto Rico and in Canada, Germany, Mexico, England, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland, Eire, Rhodesia, and the British West Indies. Buying and selling operations have been opened in Spain and Japan and the first Woolworth store opened in Spain in December, 1967.

Operations like these pose distribution challenges that are met by skilled specialists, modern distribution centers and rapid freight service to all units, including shipments of merchandise by air to meet needs such as fashion merchandise and seasonal items.

Woolworth's progress has added new jobs and new money into the economy. The company now employs more than 80,000 men and women in the United States and Canada.

Each year many young people begin their retailing careers in Woolworth's management training programs. There is a continuing need for qualified young men and women because of the complexity of modern operations in an expanding organization. Recruiting teams last year visited 309 universities and colleges in the search for management trainees.

DUANE JACOBSON, 21, 1320 1st Ave. S., came to Escanaba from St. Cloud, Minn., and is a Division Manager at the new Woolworth Department Store. He has been working for Woolworth for three years and came to Escanaba from Ashland, Wis. His hobbies include fishing, hunting and camping. He is a graduate of Technical High School in St. Cloud.

Legal Opinions Divided Over Gaming Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an attack on federal tax laws, the Supreme Court has been asked to extend the Fifth Amendment's guarantee against self-incrimination from gamblers to moonshiners.

It's an old argument but, judging from a decision in a lower federal court, legal opinion is now divided.

At stake are federal income tax laws requiring the posting of a sign at a lawful distillery, furnishing of bond, registration information, and purchase of tax stamps for whiskey.

In 1968, the Supreme Court said the federal law requiring gamblers to buy stamps in effect violated the constitutional protection against self-incrimination.

Invoking the Fifth Amendment is an absolute defense in cases where the gambling stamp provision was used to identify gamblers, the high court ruled.

The new but similar attack on alcoholic beverage laws was brought by Walter Grooms and Cleona Hooper, both convicted in Detroit in connection with manufacture of illicit whiskey.

Their argument: Had they obeyed the federal laws, they would have been forced to incriminate themselves.

In the past, convicted moonshiners have had little success in courts with their plea.

The U. S. Court of Appeals at Cincinnati rejected the incrimination claim, saying the alcoholic beverage laws are essentially noncriminal revenue measures.

The whiskey laws aren't exposure statutes, the court went on, while the gambling stamp law was. The only list involved in the alcohol laws are those of legal distillers, it said.

But, as an indication of the division of opinion, three of the nine judges on the appellate court dissented.

They argued that the high court's ruling in the gambling stamp case had set a new precedent that should be controlling.

Some Things Make Life Worth Living

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living: Opening the door to greet a loved one coming home to stay for a good long spell.

Catching a big one in the lake where the big ones were all supposed to have been caught early in the season.

The first splashdown of huge raindrops after a long drought... They look like falling silver coins.

Seeing mother bravely cry through her tears because her little man was going away to a summer Boy Scout camp for a whole two weeks.

The taste and feel of salt spray on your face as you hold the tiller of a small sailboat laboring through white-capped waters.

Chasing a small snake through tall grass and feeling secretly glad when it makes its escape, because then you don't have to kill it and carry it home still wriggling on a stick.

Being informed by a kindly teacher that she won't flunk you after all, even though you turned in your term paper three days late.

Building a tree house in the backyard and staying in it until the stars came out, gleaming on a vast kingdom you imagine as your own.

Getting the first love letter from your best girl in which she finally signed it "love, Rosalie," instead of "as ever, Rosalie."

The wild orgy of a fresh watermelon eating spree in the fields of Sicily after two weeks of eating nothing but Army combat rations.

Drawing to an inside straight — and making it — in a poker game with $50 in the pot.

The sound of your own name read aloud by the principal as you walk up to get your high school diploma. You have to fight down a mad desire to wave the diploma aloft and shout, "Hurrah for me!"

The sight of a tawny harvest moon, gilding a field stacked with cornstalks that glimmer like the ragged ribbons of a forgotten arc.

Buying $2 worth of fading roses in the subway to make up with your own true love after your first big quarrel.

Devising, after seeing your first-born child in the hospital maternity ward, that you'll keep it no matter what the neighbors may think of it.

Throwing a tremulous kiss, misty-eyed, to the Statue of Liberty as you view that green goddess from shipboard on returning safe from a long hot war.

Saying a prayer you know in your heart you have no right to make, and getting a favorable response you know you don't deserve.

New Corn Seed Developed Said High In Nutrition

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A Brazilian seed-growing company, with backing from the Rockefellers, has developed a new corn that may help to combat malnutrition in underdeveloped countries.

The firm, Semente Agroceres, started out 25 years ago on a small farm in the Brazilian interior and has become a major producer of seed corn. In 1947 it formed a partnership with the International Basic Economy Corp., set up by the Rockefeller Brothers to help private business' houses in developing nations.

The high-protein content of a new type of corn was discovered at Purdue University in 1963. It became known to agronomists as Opaque 2. Until then geneticists had regarded opaqueness as a defect in corn.

Agroceres obtained 30 kernels of the grain from Purdue laboratories in West Lafayette, Ind., and after years of breeding obtained a hybrid that could be grown in the tropics.

This year Agroceres sold its first harvest to 600 selected Brazilian farmers in hopes that the yield will produce fatter hogs, thus increasing the meat output and aiding the fight against the country's protein shortage.

Store Includes New Pet Center

The popularity of household pets has been increasing at a tremendous rate in all parts of the country during the last few years. Dealers in live pets and accessories estimate the growth rate at about 10 per cent a year.

Those in the pet field say they know of no one thing that has been responsible for the upsurge in interest. It is felt that it's simply that Americans always have had a natural affinity for pets and today more families have the time and money to properly care for them.

To meet this increasing demand retailers are expanding selling area, adding new merchandise lines and widening the range of their current live pets. One such company that is working hard to meet this consumer demand is the F. W. Woolworth Co., which will open a new pet center here in its store in Delta Plaza Wednesday.

Woolworth has been carrying pet supplies since its first store opened in 1879. However, the increasing interest in pets has led the company to greatly expand the scope of its live pets and pet supply lines.

Its new pet center here will be one of the most complete and varied the company has ever established, according to Robert Semrow, store manager. He added that this pet center would differ from the company's regular pet departments in that it would be much larger and carry a more extensive assortment in both pets and accessories.

This new center, Semrow pointed out, will have available many varieties of tropical fish, goldfish and their food, and a wide range of accessories such as bowis, aquariums, pumps, lights and landscaping material. Birds from parakeets to exotic varieties along with cages, foods, medicine and bird toys will be carried.

"We also plan to stock, when they are available, exotic pets that children are particularly fond of such as chameleons, iguanas, alligators, hamsters, guinea pigs, horned toads and, of course, the big favorite, turtles," he said.

"In developing this new center Woolworth has not neglected the dog and cat fanciers and a large portion of it will feature practically every accessory needed for the care of these pets," Semrow added.

Pilots Asking 'Bulletproof' Cockpit Doors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline pilots are demanding the shelter of bulletproof cockpit doors more than ever, now that armed marshals ride their planes as a guard against hijackers.

The Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) emphasized this in a statement filed Friday with the Federal Aviation Administration in support of the bulletproof-cockpit requirement proposed by the FAA.

"Now that armed security guards have been placed on air carrier aircraft, the possibility of gunfire in the cabin has increased, and it is likely that bullets from the cabin may accidentally enter the flight deck," ALPA said.

Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said Friday fed-shoot if other measures fail to halt a hijacking.

Volpe said shooting will be done as a last resort and added: "When it comes to the lives of 200 American passengers and crewmen as opposed to the life of one hijacker, there is no question of what we're going to do."

Volpe made the remarks as he signed an agreement giving the FBI jurisdiction over hijackings while a plane is on the ground and putting the Federal Aviation Administration responsibility if the plane is airborne.

A number of military personnel are being trained at Ft. Dix, N.J., for service as sky marshals and some of them should be boarding planes Monday, Volpe said.

Capt. Charles H. Ruby, ALPA president, said the union has endorsed the secure-cockpit concept for several years and "wants action now."

ALPA said the FAA requirement that the door to the flight deck be kept locked has failed to prevent hijackings, sabotage or interference.

Asks Laws To Protect State Land Buyers

LANSING (AP) — Michigan needs laws to regulate vacation-property developments in the state, says Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

"While we have strict laws protecting Michigan citizens who purchase vacation sites in large developments outside of this state," Kelley said Friday, "we have no such protection for our citizens who buy vacation property in developments within Michigan."

Kelley said those who want to sell out-of-state vacation sites to Michigan residents must register with the state, file financial statements and comply with other regulations. However, he said, this is not required on developments within Michigan.

Kelley said that many developers in Michigan are operating legitimately, "but there are enough who are not to warrant very close inspection by any prospective purchaser and consultation with legal and financial advisors."

He said most of the complaints received by his office involve failure of developers to provide promised improvements such as sewers, paving and grading.

The attorney general added:

"Some of the developers are working on a tight margin, purchasing a large tract of land by land contract with the expectation they will pay off the contract by money payments received from persons seeking to buy lots in their development. Often, however, the people, who think they are buying lots, are actually only getting an option to buy if and when the land development is platted. In the event the land contract is unpaid by the developer and a foreclosure results, the purchaser is left with only a money receipt and no property title. Some investors have lost as much as $5,000 on unfulfilled vacation site purchases."

ry, purses and bags. High-color shades are the in things in the latest line of dresses for fall. Pink, turquoise, lime and gold are featured in the new puckered look, achieved by use of elasticized stitching. They are part of the full line of clothing for misses in the fall season.

Sweater dresses in both the dress and sportswear categories feature spiced tones.

Plaids and belts featuring luminous colors are the latest for the young-in-heart misses for the holiday season. The feminine look has been recaptured with soft lines in styling for Junior and Junior Petite holiday dresses. Bright white and brilliant colors are stand-out attractions in the extensive assortments being offered.

Separate Department

And there's a separate department for men and boys with the latest in color and style trends in sweaters, dress shirts, jackets, all purpose coats, sport shirts and coats, and footwear.

Robert Semrow, manager of the new store, said that "fashion wearables" is a major department in the greatly expanded Woolworth's stores being opened across the country. "The size of the new store permits us to offer complete lines of quality merchandise in a department store atmosphere of wide aisles and bright decor," Semrow pointed out.

"We will carry the latest fashions in many categories in season, and one of our features is color coordinates for ladies, permitting mixing and matching of tops and pants or shirts and jackets."

Airport Operators Fear Noise Of SST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Operators of major airports have asked the federal government for definite assurance the supersonic transport (SST) plane now under development will meet noise standards recently established by the Federal Aviation Administration.

The Airport Operators Council International (AOCI) said tolerable noise standards must be among design requirements set by FAA regulations which cannot be compromised for production aircraft.

AOCI president Matthias E. Lukens made public Friday a letter from William M. Magruder, director of SSR development for the Transportation Department, assuring him that during the SST prototype and research program there will be no SST takeoffs or landings at any commercial airport except for initial departure from Seattle's Boeing Field.

Magruder added, "The established criteria for noise level will be met."

Magruder's letter was released as Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott urged Congress to ensure that no large-scale SST commercial flights will be allowed without a guarantee the environment will not be endangered.

In a Senate speech, Scott said he will not support production of the SST "unless the essential environmental problems are solved following the completion of the prototype plane."

The Pennsylvania senator said he will seek White House support for his position, including a request that the administration increase by $5 million the $27 million planned for environmental research on the SST. The Nixon administration is seeking $290 million with which the Boeing Co. will build the prototype of the 1,800-mile-an-hour, 300-passenger plane.

Lukens, the airport operators' spokesman, said Magruder's approach to noise problems offers "us only the assurance that you will deal with the noise problem after the prototype and research programs are completed."

"All the public would get then would be endless explanations of the engineering and economic impracticability of reducing the noise."

Youngster Goes Way Out On Limb To Save Trees

BLOOMFIELD, Hills, Mich. (AP)—A West Bloomfield Township lad who identified himself only as Robert went out on a limb recently to protest the removal of a sweep of sturdy walnut trees by the local road commission.

Six hours later, as he clung to the lofty perch, his view was considerably improved. Road commission workers, ignoring the 18-year-old's protest, had chopped the tree branches down to stubs.

And neither the boy's father nor his friends nor police could coax him down.

In fact, Robert's act of defiance inspired a number of similar deeds, and toward sundown the few remaining trees in the area were filled with youths in protest.

Township police said a group of construction workers had gathered at the base of Robert's tree late Friday night, threatening to cut it down. Police said they were patrolling the area to insure the safety of the boy and the tree.

LINDA DYE, 1507 S. 14th St., is a waitress in the beautiful new Harvest House Cafe at the Woolworth Department Store. A member of St. Ann's Parish, Linda has worked for Woolworth for 13 months.

JEANNE FLATH, 1710 Ludington St., began working for Woolworth last October and she is a 1969 graduate of Escanaba Area High school. She is one of the waitresses in the new Harvest House Cafe.

Harvest House Cafe Featured In Store

The new Woolworth Harvest House Cafe in Delta Plaza center is part of a nationwide program of modernization and expansion the company is conducting to meet the changing needs of the modern customer. This cafe represents a "new look" over the facility it replaces and a giant step forward from the first eating service the company ever had, back in 1903.

The original food facility — in one Philadelphia store — was just a stand-up counter "set up to accommodate weary shoppers," and served only several hundred persons a year.

Since then Woolworth's food facilities have grown until now they serve more than one million persons daily throughout all 50 states and Puerto Rico and Canada.

Seats 60 Persons
In contrast to the original, this latest cafe has seating for 60 persons and is equipped with the modern food service equipment.

Its menu will feature from five to seven entrees and a variety of sandwiches, compared with only hot dogs and root beer served in the first unit.

One of the reasons for the wide acceptance of Woolworth's restaurants is the care it takes in preparation of its menus. Every dish, before it is ever placed on the menu, is put through numerous tests and tastings in the company's test kitchen in New York. When it is ready to be placed on the menu the local chefs are given instructions "down to a grain of salt" on preparation and serving.

Millions Of Burgers
It has been said that Woolworth, not the Pilgrims, put turkey into the regular diet of Americans, and the more than 7 million plus turkey dinners it served last year indicates it is still doing it.

Another illustration of the Woolworth restaurants' popularity is the more than 21,370,540 hamburgers and 7,168,410 pieces of apple pie customers put away last year.

Robert Semrow, store manager, said to accommodate residents here the cafe will be open daily. It will be closed on Sunday.

MRS. MASON (IDA BELLE) JOHNSON, 2310 Ludington St., began working for Woolworth last month and is head of the shoe department. Originally from North Carolina, Mrs. Johnson is the mother of five children and grandmother to four. Her hobbies include knitting, fishing and swimming. Fund Supply Hike By FRB Taken Lightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's increasing of the money supply will not have the effect of setting off another inflationary boom as traditionalist economists fear, a recent market letter theorizes.

"Our view, much strengthened by the recent announcement that industrial activity declined slightly in August, is that monetary stimulation during the next few months should produce little or no inflationary effect on the economy and would serve rather to cushion a decline in business activity than to stimulate a new rise," writes Bradbury K. Thurlow, in the weekly letter of Hoppin, Watson & Co.

"The reason is," he goes on, "that the governments 'game plan' has reduced bank and credit liquidity so severely that the first order of business now is to bring it back to a minimum tolerable level."

The strike against General Motors, blamed for some of the market's weakness, may actually help the overall economic situation by cutting down on demands for credit.

"Ancient wisdom hath it that a major strike tends to accelerate a recession already in process, but modern wisdom is so confused by statistics that we don't know whether or not we are actually in such a recession. At least one may be confident that a steep cut in auto production coming now will help curtail demand for credit. To that extent the strike is helping to restore liquidity," Thurlow writes.

JERRY HARDY of Bark River is head of the hardware and automotive departments in the new Woolworth Department Store. Originally from Glen Ellyn, Ill., Jerry is married and the father of two children. He served with the Air Force for four years and is a member of the Experimental Aircraft Association of Hales Corners, Wis. One of his hobbies is fishing and before coming to Woolworth he worked for Sears as a lay-out artist and salesman.

Romney Protege Takes City Post

DETROIT (AP) — George Romney protege William C. Whitbeck takes charge this week of federal Housing and urban Development programs throughout Michigan.

Whitbeck, housing aide to the former governor in 1966, will open a HUD area office here Wednesday with 394 staff members as part of a Nixon administration program to cut delay between approval of HUD projects and local implementation.

Local projects previously were handled directly by the HUD regional office at Chicago.

Market Studies Used In Plans For New Store

Shoppers in today's modern retail stores probably would be surprised to learn that they had been "put under a microscope" by a team of experts before construction of the building ever started.

Learning about prospective customers is an important element in selecting an appropriate location for a store and in deciding upon the merchandise mix, which, in turn, is a factor in determining how large the store needs to be.

For example, long before the F. W. Woolworth Co. approved construction of its newest store in Delta Plaza in Escanaba, a team of experts spent months studying the needs, wants, tastes and habits of prospective customers as well as facts about average incomes, employment rates and traffic patterns in the community.

Only then was it decided the store would be located in an enclosed, air conditioned shopping mall at Delta Plaza, that it would have 60,000 square feet of building area, and the kinds of merchandise it would stock.

Comfort Demanded

Designed with wide aisles, soft lighting and a bright decor, the store has ample room for home furnishings and small appliances, as well as extensive lines of high-fashion apparel and shoes, perfumes and upgraded beauty care items.

"Today's shoppers demand comfort and convenience," reports John E. Stromenger, vice president — merchandising for Woolworth's. "At the same time, this 'new' consumer's demands are high when it comes to the quality and styling of goods as well as the attractiveness, comfort and convenience of the overall shopping environment."

To measure those demands for a specific neighborhood or community the researchers look into economic growth, studying population changes for the city and the trade area, the effective buying income and retail sales in the area and the effective buying income of households in the city, county and state.

Statistic Analyzed

Employment and unemployment statistics for as much as a 10-year period are analyzed, including a detailed breakdown by type of employment available in the area.

Competition is analyzed as to size and type of stores, and the amount of advertising they use in different media.

Factors studies includes existing and projected major roads, traffic densities, parking facilities available, and direction of population growth.

Other marketing research is thrown into the mass of accumulated knowledge so that Woolworth's management can determine not only how many customers the store can be expected to serve but what kind of customers they will be, how much they can be expected to spend, the merchandise they are likely to buy — and their shopping habits.

Nothing To Chance

Woolworth's vice president for construction, James E. Pierce, points out that, like the site, nothing is left to chance in designing and building stores to appropriately fit the area.

"The size of the store and the nature of the merchandise is determined by the advance research," he said, but stores being opened these days are much larger, to accommodate the greatly expanded lines of merchandise in upgraded quality demanded by today's customers.

Demos Say TV Laws Violated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee says several corporations apparently violated federal laws by paying for rebroadcasts of President Nixon's Kansas State University speech denouncing violence.

The committee's general counsel, Joseph A. Califano Jr., made the charges Friday in a letter to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and demanded Mitchell investigate.

Califano cited news reports that four corporations headed by Nixon's close friends had bought prime TV time in nine cities to rebroadcast parts of the President's Sept. 16 speech at Kansas State.

"The companies involved are reported to be the Reader's Digest, Pepsi Cola, Warner-Lambert and Hawthorn Books, a publishing corporation controlled by W. Clement Stone," Califano said.

"The J. Walter Thompson advertising company as well as at least one member of the White House staff, Alvin Snyder, are also reported to be involved," he said.

The companies Califano named declined comment.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said he thought Nixon had become aware of the rebroadcasts "after the fact."

Lake Skipper, Mates Blamed In Sinking

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP) — A government attorney has told a public inquiry that the captain of the laker Eastcliffe Hall was drunk when she ran aground and sank in the St. Lawrence Seaway July 14 with the loss of nine lives.

But Raynald Langlois said in his summation as the inquiry closed Friday that 1st Mate Julien Marchand and 3rd Mate Joseph Dupuis must share the blame with Capt. Richard Groulx, because they failed to take control of the ship when they saw the captain's condition.

The captain and his 16-year-old son were among the victims. Twelve persons were rescued.

Jean Paul Dufour, attorney for the two mates, said in spite of evidence showing that Groulx's blood alcohol content was .36 per cent when the Eastcliffe Hall went down, the captain acted normally on the bridge.

Justice Francois Chevalier, who headed the inquiry, interrupted Dufour to say he had heard "uncontradicted evidence" that the captain had consumed enough alcohol to make him "extremely intoxicated."

The 4,000-ton freighter carrying pig iron from Sorel, Que., to Saginaw, Mich., struck a submerged light standard after grounding on a sandbar and sank in minutes.

Chevalier did not say when he will release his findings.

Kent U. Students Back In Classes

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Students began fall quarter classes quietly Monday at Kent State University under the slogan "Power to the Peaceful," — theme of a student government sponsored "Think Week."

About 21,000 students returned to the campus where four students were fatally shot during campus disorders last spring.

The student government began a week-long program emphasizing the need for non-violent change.

A torchlight parade and memorial service was scheduled at 8 p.m. in memory of the students who were killed during the May 4 confrontation with Ohio National Guardsmen.

Six bomb threats had been made in recent days, causing buildings to be evacuated four times. Nothing was found.

The campus police force has been increased from 36 to 48 full-time officers. The State Highway Patrol has promised quick aid in case of trouble.

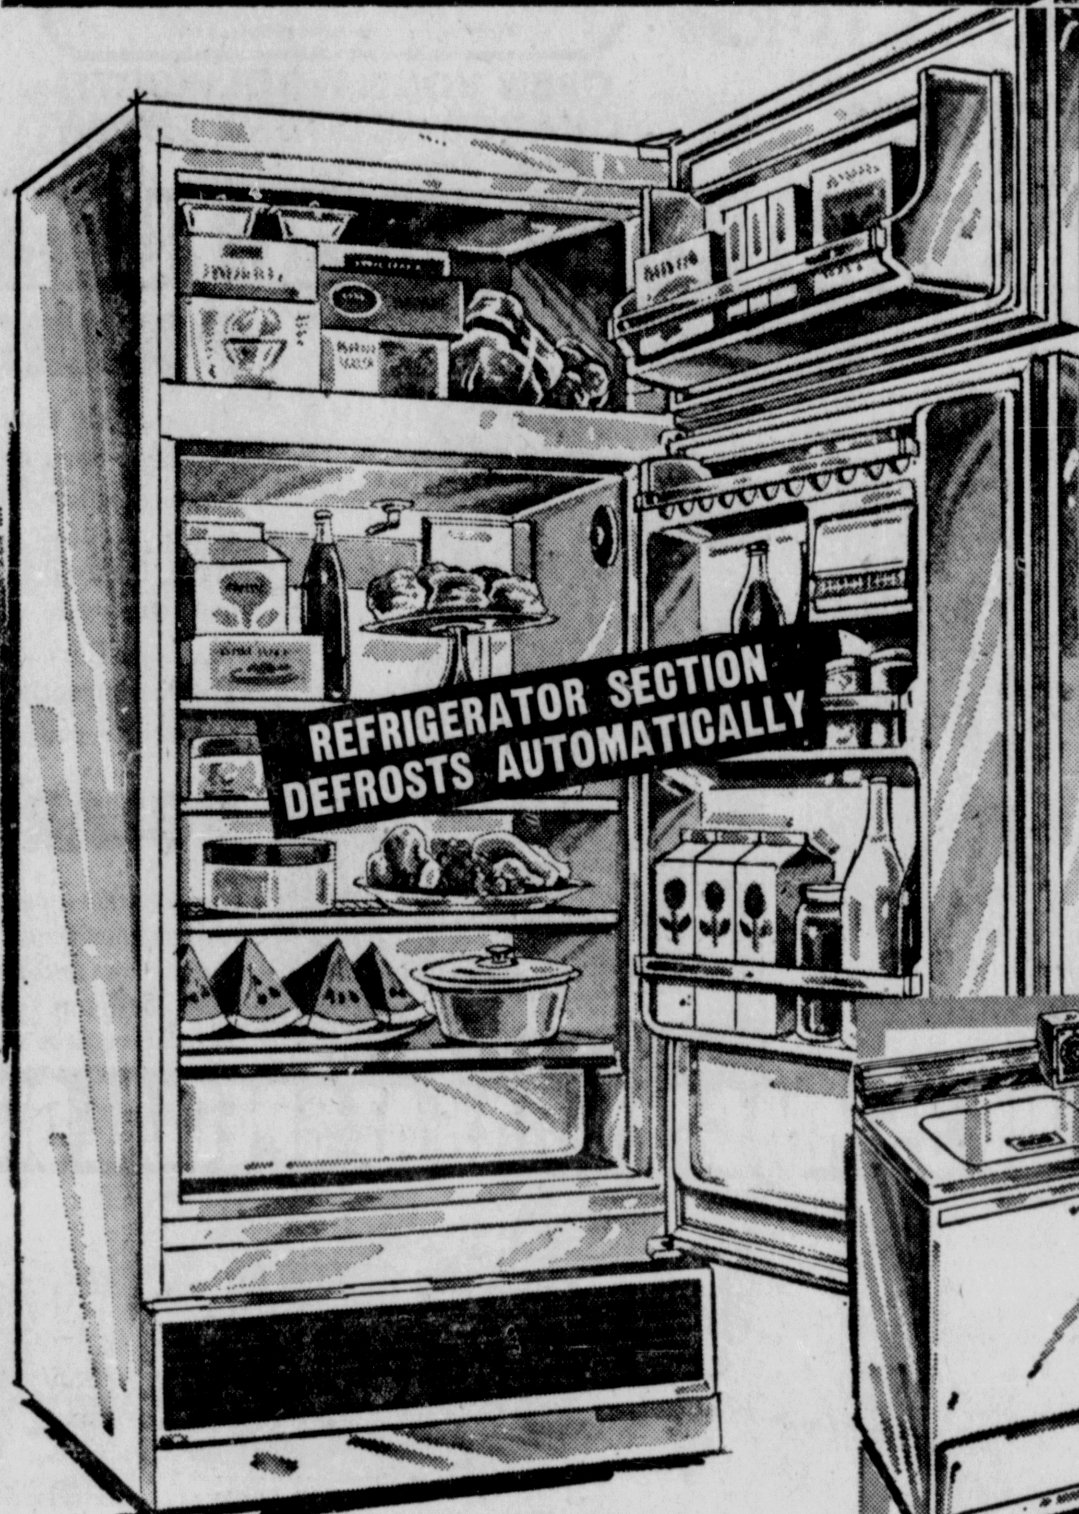

Students are now required to carry identification cards which show their pictures.
